The Application of Cold War Counter- Intelligence Techniques against International Terrorism

Nigel West

- Renowned British intelligence historian and author
- Author of over 25 intelligence books
- Former Conservative Member of Parliament
- Professor, Centre for Counterintelligence and Security Studies

Nigel West is a renowned author and military historian specializing in intelligence, counterintelligence, and security issues. He has lectured widely at Langley and KGB headquarters. Mr. West worked as a researcher for two authors: Ronal Seth, who had been parachuted into Silesia by SOE, and Richard Deacon, formerly the Foreign Editor of The Sunday Times. Mr. West later joined BBC TV's General Features department to work on the SPY! and ESCAPE series.

Nigel West's first book, co-authored with Richard Deacon in 1980 for BBC Publications, was the book of the SPY! series and was followed by many other books which have significantly contributed to the understanding of intelligence and counterintelligence history. His mentor was the famed British CI expert, Arthur Martin of MI5. He continues to write books and is the European Editor of the World Intelligence Review, published in Washington DC. He is also the European Editor of the International Journal of Intelligence and Counterintelligence. In addition to teaching at the Centre for Counterintelligence and Security Studies in Washington, DC, he is a regular lecturer on SpyCruise, as well as for Hilton Hotel Special Events and on Cunard's Caronia and QE2.

Between June 1987 and May 1997, Rupert Allason (aka pen name Nigel West) was the Conservative Member of Parliament for Torbay and made contributions to two Security Service Bills: the Official Secrets Bill and the Intelligence Services Bill.
